THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

By the flow of the inland river,
Whence the flees of iron have fled,
Where the blades of the grave-grass quiver,
Asleep are the ranks of the dead:
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the one, the blue,
Under the other, the gray.

Those in the robes of glory,
Those in the gloom of defeat,
All with the battle-blood gory,
In the dust of eternity meet:
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the laurel, the blue,
Under the willow, the gray.

From the silence of sorrowful hours
The desolate mourners go,
Lovingly laden with flowers,
All for the friend and the foe;

Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;

Under the roses, the blue,
Under the lilies, the gray.

So with an equal splendor,
The morning sun-rays fall,
With a touch impartially tender,
On the blossoms blooming for all;

Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;

Broidered with gold, the blue,
Mellowed with gold, the gray.

So, when the summer calleth
On forest and field of grain,
With an equal murmur calleth
The cooling drip of the rain;

Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;

Wet with the rain, the blue,
Wet with the rain, the gray.

Sadly, but not with upbraiding,
The generous deed was done,
In the storm of the years that are fading
No braver battle was won:

Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;

Under the blossoms, the blue,
Under the garlands, the gray.

No more shall the war cry sever,
Or the winding rivers be red;
They banish our anguish forever
When they laud the graves of our dead!

Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;

Love and tears for the blue,
Tears and love for the gray.

Dress Stuffs

$2½ to $5 buys a dress pattern that a fortnight ago would have cost $5 to $10. Not to wool Dress Goods are reductions confined—silks have also been sheared of all profit. Never a better time to buy a dress, waist, or skirt. Perhaps some neighbor has availed of this sale—ask her opinion of our January bargains—we know her answer will bring you here.

FURS—One-Half!

The offer can be made in a dozen words. Every fur piece in the store at a reduction of one-half from the marked figures. Owing to the warm fall we marked furs early in December at the lowest prices ever known in the store's history—and from these lowest of low prices we again clip one-half.

A BARGAIN!

Is only a bargain when it is a worth-while article at less than usual price. Last winter's coats would not be cheap to smart dressers at any price.

EVERY WRAP

In our stock is correctly fashioned and was made for the winter of 1902-3. We didn't carry one coat over from last year. We emphasize this point because it is difficult for anyone to grasp the extraordinary values we are giving in the coat department. You think old-fashioned garments are only possible at such prices. Don't waste time over that fallacy when a glance will instantly confirm every detail of our statement.

"Cheapness"

Without worth is a delusion and a snare. Not a bit of doubt about that. It is one thing to sell good merchandise—Shoes—at low prices and quite another thing to sell cheap stuff. ## LATEST!

The House yesterday, by a vote of 268 to 6, passed the bill granting a rebate equal to the amount of the duty on all imported coal for a period of one year.

Yesterday a resolution was introduced in the House of Representatives at Washington empowering the Judiciary Committee to investigate the power and necessity for the Government taking possession of all coal, coal mines and all coal carrying railroads in the United States. The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, That the Committee on Judiciary be and is hereby directed to investigate and report to this House with all convenient speed the opinion of that Committee as to the power of Congress to declare that a necessity has arisen for taking possession of all coal, coal beds and coal mines in the United States and all lines of transportation, agencies, instruments and vehicles of commerce necessary for transportation of coal, and that if in the opinion of that Committee the power exists and a necessity for the exercise of such power has arisen, that the Committee forthwith report to this House a bill declaring the necessity, providing fully and in detail the occasions, modes, conditions and agencies for said appropriation that will fully and completely exhaust the power of Congress in that regard.

The Judiciary Committee of the House, that it is proposed shall make the investigation, is composed of the following members: John J. Jenkins, R., of Wisconsin; Richard Wayne Parker, R., of New Jersey; Jesse Overstreet, R., of Indiana; De Alva S. Alexander, R., of New York; Vespasian Warner, R., Illinois; Charles E. Littlefield, R., of Maine; Julius Kahn, R., of California; Lot Thomas, R., of Iowa; Samuel L. Powers, R., of Massachusetts; Robert M. Nevin, R., of Ohio; David A. De Armond, D., of Missouri; Samuel W. T. Lanham, D., of Texas; William Elliott, D., of South Carolina; David H. Smith, D., of Kentucky; William Fleming, D., of Georgia; Henry D. Clayton, D., of Alabama.

HARD TO EXPLAIN.

If This Had Occurred Anywhere Else Than Maysville Our Readers Might Doubt It.

It's hard to explain how the public can continue to doubt in the face of such evidence. If this were published anywhere else than in Maysville; if the statement given below went the rounds of the press readers in Boston or New Orleans might doubt it. But it's very different when the testimony given comes from a friend, perhaps a neighbor. It is public expression of a local citizen, and can be easily investigated:

Mr. Larmon Dawson, residing at 934 East Second street, says:

"The quick relief from pain in my back which followed the use of Dean's Kidney Pills proved them to possess remarkable powers. I procured them at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore, corner of West Second and Market streets. From the satisfactory results obtained I can advise all in need of a kidney medicine to give Doan's Pill a trial."

MURPHY, THE JEWELER!

A MERCIENARY SUITOR

British Peer Advertises for American Wife With Money.

Attorney for Man Seeks Aid of the American Consul General, Who Rebuked the Request as an Affront to His Countrywomen.

"Wanted—An American to sell one of his countrywomen for 250 guineas." Such is the tenor of a letter received at the United States consulate in London. Here is a copy of the letter which Richard Westcott, acting consul general, showed the correspondent: "Clarendon Art Depot (Old and modern masters bought and sold on commission), 174 New Bond street, London, May 27, 1902. (Confidential). Dear Sir: A client of mine has asked me if I knew an American lady of means and social ambition willing to marry an English peer of high rank, middle-aged, but amiable and handsome, widower, with children.

"Of course it would be a marriage of mutual convenience, the lady contributing a certain amount toward the keeping up of the family estates. The lady may be a widow, but she must be of good repute not a divorcee.

"I am aware that I have no claim to address you on this matter, and I beg you to pardon the liberty I am taking in doing so on the assumption that you know, perhaps, a lady to whom the position in question may be acceptable or that you have a friend willing to assist in finding what is required for a consideration.

"My client, who is acting for a third party, offers 250 guineas ($1,312.50) to anyone whose assistance may lead to a successful issue of the purpose in view.

"Should you desire any further details on the subject I shall be happy to hear from you. In any case, I hope you will kindly excuse this intrusion on your valuable time. Yours faithfully, F. Le Normand."

Mr. Westcott was naturally indignant at being the recipient of such a letter. "Persons with titles to sell need not expect to make the United States consulate a clearing house," he said. "I should like it understood I represent such a proposition as a deliberate and deep insult to my countrywomen."

"Yes," said Mr. Morse, a well-known lawyer of Boston, who was present, "it is certainly a grievous insult. You violate no confidence in publishing it. I am father of four daughters, and personally I feel if I get the originator of such a proposition by the neck, I should take great pleasure in wringing it."

On July 3, 1775, Gen. Washington assembled the colonial army at Cambridge, and there, under a large elm tree, assumed command of the American forces. The ceremonies were simple. The authority from Congress was read, and then, drawing his sword, the man who was to lead the patriot army to ultimate success assumed formal command. With him at that time were Gen. Lee and Schuyler, who had made the journey from Philadelphia with him, and from which place he had set out without having taken time to visit his home and family at Mount Vernon.

Fantastic stories have been written of magic mirrors in which the future was revealed. If such a thing were possible many a bright-faced bride would shrink from the revelation of herself, stripped of all her loveliness. If there is one thing which would make a woman shrink from marriage it is to see the rapid physical deterioration which comes to so many wives. The cause is generally due to womanly diseases.
